The appellate record does not contain any evidence regarding the October 1, 1982 request. The 1981 application, therefore, should not have been given any weight. Furthermore, even if the award had been given due consideration, the record indicates that the Miller Controls and Ranco awards were only 1.3% and 2.5% of the total United States sales, respectively, compared to the Miller Industries award, which represented nearly a third of the total sales. 55 Because of these flaws in the Miller Industries award, we would give the Miller Industries award little weight, if any, in our determination of the propriety of the EPA's conduct in this case. In addition, the record reflects that there are other flaws associated with the Miller Industries award. As Miller Industries points out, the Miller
